MEDIA ADVISORY: Habitat for Humanity - 10/15/2003

COLUMBIA, Mo. – Local REALTORS® will display more than their home-selling prowess from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow as they pitch in to construct a Habitat for Humanity home for a needy family in Columbia.

About 15 to 20 local REALTORS® will be putting up drywall and painting a home at 5000 Aztec Blvd. in the Indian Hills subdivision in northeast Columbia.

“REALTORS® are professionals who care deeply about their community, so it is no surprise that our members are willing to devote some sweat and effort toward making Columbia a better place to live,” said Carol Van Gorp, chief executive officer of the Columbia Board of REALTORS®.
